

EDUCATION

ACGA provides many forums for educating beef producers, agency personnel, political leaders and the public.

ACGA's Cattlemen's College provides learning opportunities regarding range management, animal health, drought, marketing and expanding opportunities for economic returns for beef producers.

ACGA's staff is always on hand to help educate producers and the public on current industry issues. If you can't find the answer, the ACGA staff will work to find it for you.

COMMUNICATION

Providing our members with the most current information in the easiest possible form is crucial to our organization. That is why ACGA produces Arizona's most comprehensive and professional magazine for Arizona's beef producing families, the Arizona Cattlelog. ACGA also produces a quarterly newsletter and sends emails with the most up-to-date information.

We also offer an easy to use website for our members and the public. Visit www.azcattlemensassoc.org for all of your industry needs.

REPRESENTATION

Arizona Cattle Growers' Association maintains the strongest and most professional Government Affairs Team for representing Arizona's beef producing families.

ACGA's reputation is deep-seated among state agencies, the state legislature and in Congress.

Your ACGA team constantly works to champion: Private Property Rights, Water Issues, Animal Health and Welfare, State Land, Environmental Issues, Border Security, Federal Lands and all other issues as our membership directs.

While you are tending to your business of raising cattle, we will be serving as your personal representative at numerous state and national hearings to keep you informed and to make sure your voice is heard.

ACGA's representation of cattlemen in government and industry affairs has proven an indispensable force in meeting the challenges of an ever-changing economic and political climate.
